that no one goes hungry or thirsty or without medical attention when necessary. Victims can help by putting trash and waste materials in receptacles; lining up in orderly fashion, not lingering after having been served, using care in parking automobiles properly; keeping pets away from public places; showing courtesy and politeness to all people; keep voices well modulated and transistor radios turned low.

Snakes, Jagged Glass, Dead Animals, Stench
"Some children under 14 years of age were evacuated to protect them from danger of hungry, roaming animals who have become vicious through fright and hunger, as well as danger of snake bite since a reported number of poison snakes have been crawling toward higher places. Also there is a very real danger from jagged glass, nails, cuts from tin, and accidents from falling because of mud slicks and rubbish. Dead animals and decaying food swept into the mud during the storm are causing health hazards. Efforts are being made to air-lift large animals from the vicinity," said Mrs. C. O. Sweatingen of Hancock General Hospital.

Disparaging
 with damage of some work, loss of businesses, and destruction of a large percentage of residential and business property. Reconstruction is deemed to be slow and difficult. Mayor Warren Curvet wishes to assure the people of Bay St. Louis that he and the City Commissioners pledge to do all within their power to find help and will keep the community informed through the columns of the Sea Coast Echo of progress being made.

Salvage Army Station
Our Lady of Gulf Church
Beach Front Bay St. Louis
 Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church on the Beach in Bay St. Louis was fortunately spared major damage and the Salvation Army set up a distribution center for clothing and other necessities in that building. Supplies were being trucked in through the courtesy of the Navy.

Also the St. Joseph's dormitories escaped major damage. While St. Stanislaus College has an estimated half-million dollars in damages, students plan to open school on schedule.

Trains Are Rolling
Power Deliveries
 The Post Office in Bay St. Louis is holding mail for call at window for those whose homes have been destroyed or abandoned. Some postal deliveries are being made where streets are passable. In-school and evening mail schedules are as usual.

Waters Service Being
Showered in Areas
 As early as August 22 the City of Bay St. Louis was able to provide a limited water supply. Due to many broken pipes and leakage the citizens are fortunate in the feat accomplished by this crew.

Driftwood Metal Provides Luxuries
 As of August 22 the Driftwood Motel was able to provide its occupants with electric lights, hot running water in some rooms, water in all rooms, with the ice making machine and could drink machine functioning. A crew of workers swept open areas since staff crew was unavailable for service.

Next Headquarters For
echo Moved to Ramada
 Ed Hall, manager of Sea Coast Echo, moved his staff from Camille Ravaged building into a hotel in order to provide subscribers within Hancock County area with all possible information and helpful suggestions needed to bring about relief in a variety of situations.

North America Comes Through with Help
 Also located in Ramada Inn are volunteer workers who assist families in locating storage space and hauling facilities where there is salvage furniture and or personal possessions.

Blackledge Says Snake Bit Kits Now Available
 W. L. Blackledge, administrator for Hancock General Hospital announces that a limited supply of snake bite kits are available, and a new supply on order are expected.

Nurses and Interns
N.O. and Sidelall Aid
 A crew of volunteer nurses and interns from the New Orleans and Sidelall area made possible the treatment of many victims and the added help of these persons made possible preventive medications and inoculations needed to avert epidemics. Local Hancock nursing and hospital staff announced drug companies came through with adequate quantities of needed drugs.

Ham Operators Give Endless Hours
 Operating from the Ramada Inn Headquarters the amateur radio operators announce they are ready and willing to send messages to all states giving information to relatives and loved ones and receiving messages to be picked up from that point.

Hancock General Hospital Operating on Schedule
 As of Monday the Hancock General Hospital is fully staffed and open to serve on a regular schedule, according to a report made in an interview with W. L. Blackledge, hospital administrator.

In addition to the regular service, the first aid station is also in operation and vaccines are being administered for tetanus, typhoid, etc. A number of snake bite kits have been distributed, however, Mr. Blackledge says the reports of numbers of snake bite victims has been somewhat exaggerated. On Saturday only one person was treated at Hancock County Hospital for snake bite.

In order to serve the people in rural and outlying areas, a team of eight doctors with nurses and assistants from New Orleans have been assigned to key locations.

A registered pharmacist, H. W. Griffin of Pass Christian, is on hand together with technicians from Keesler Air Force Base Hospital.

Red Cross Receives Help
Presbyterian Church Algiers
 Local volunteer crews working from the Red Cross Center located in the St. Augustine Seminary gymnasium praised highly the method of organization used by members of the Presbyterian Church in Algiers who not only collected clothing and food for distribution, but also marked sizes and package contents for fast distribution.

Red Cross Services
 At the Red Cross Center located in the gymnasium at St. Augustine Seminary orders are being written giving permission to obtain needed items such as mattresses, roofing, and groceries. Procedure is handled by a group of local ladies and also members of the Red Cross Staff.

Food and Cleaning Supplies
Distributed from Elementary
School Ullman Ave. Entrance

Such needed items as groceries, coffee, butter in cans, ready-to-eat canned meats, etc. are being distributed from the Elementary School. First obtain an order through the Red Cross Headquarters located in the St. Augustine Seminary. Also available are chlorox, pine oil, scouring powder, soap powder, and other items needed for re-claiming items recovered from the Hurricane Camille mud.

Caution on Contamination
 As a safety measure people are urged to use chlorine in washing dishes and rinsing glasses prior to drinking from them. There is an adequate supply of fresh and safe water available through many distribution points including the area in front of the TG&Y on Highway 90, behind the Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church on the Beach.

Lineman Injured
 On Sunday an unidentified lineman was seriously injured while making repairs at the Hancock General Hospital.

Temporary Morgue
 A temporary morgue, set up across from Hancock General Hospital, handled two unidentified victims on Saturday. According to an opinion stated by W. L. Blackledge of the Hancock General Hospital, it will be virtually impossible to get an accurate count of casualties at this time because there has been a lack of co-ordination and direction.

L. A. de MONTLUZIN & SONS

APOTHECARY
1878-1969

Ninety-One years was a long time for our drug store, the third in Mississippi, to serve the people of Hancock County and Bay St. Louis. Through the terrible epidemic of Yellow Fever in 1878, the influenza epidemic of 1918, and the epic hurricanes of 1897, 1909, 1915, 1947 and 1965 this pharmacy was always open to provide its needed services. Loved by generations of local people and visited and photographed by countless tourists throughout the years, de Montluzin's was a landmark of the county.

In August, 1969, during the 91st year, it was destroyed by Camille, the greatest of all recorded hurricanes - appropriately enough, one with a French name.

Our thanks go out to our friends and customers of many years, and our wishes that they may recover from the damage Camille has brought to our community and state.

Rene' and Emily de Montluzin

AUG. 17, 1969, is a date ever to be remembered with awe and disbelief by residents of the Mississippi coastal area. The devastation, destruction, and loss of life and property which has been spoken of so repetitiously in daily papers -- been spoken of on radio -- yet no mere words are needed for most of us. Few were able to escape the sound and fury of the storm. Those who were aware that the gigantic storm was coming, it was too late to completely escape her wrath. You heard the weirdly terrifying song of the hurricane, which sounded as if a thousand mad motives sped down a nonexistent twisted track, and felt a chill as waters rose with speed the entire gulf seemed to be a gigantic bathtub being plucked out. You don't need to be told what happened there, a conceivable way to describe what actually occurred to those who were fortunately elsewhere shortly before the storm hit on a fateful Sunday in mid-August.

IT IS ANOTHER POPULAR expression, and it's true, that you have been through such an experience. You read about similar disasters and felt immense sympathy for those who were -- but no one can really know the true meaning of "disaster" until you happen to be personally involved.

ONE OF the first to arrive on the scene with most drastic needed aid were those from New Orleans who still remember the havoc fresh in their minds. In weeks we shall be able to thank those who appeared as if from the states in the Union to give assistance. At the time, we were too occupied with the effort to try to make a home out of a little bit livable again, to discover the names of those who helped in our immediate neighborhood -- each and every bit of aid was gratefully accepted and warmly appreciated.

WE FEAR that no one escaped unscathed. Grim is the only way to describe the conditions -- and for many it will be years to recover from their losses. The only losses that are replaceable are the lives of those who perished. Houses, businesses, canals, trees and shrubs, re-planted, but the people, and new several of the victims too well to about their losses, are irrevocably gone. The rest of us may be able to live somewhat primitively, but the living and so-called "super-right" later we'll snap back. Those who went through the unnamed storm haven't forgotten, but they're not starting all over again and we can do the same!

IT MAY TAKE years for an oak to grow -- historic landmarks, priceless and famous landmarks cannot be replaced. We still have the images of ideal climate, the water and other natural resources which attracted the original settlers many years ago. First, many vowed that they would never return to each day passed and even small movements became a feat, thanks to a mammoth 24 hour effort combining power and machinery, attitudes be-

News From Bay St. Louis School System

The Bay St. Louis Separate School District Board met Monday morning and voted to postpone opening of the schools in the district two to four weeks. It is announcing the postponement Superintendent J. D. McCullough said.

"Due to Hurricane Camille, opening of the schools in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District will be postponed from two to four weeks.

"All faculty members should keep in touch with the Principals of their respective schools so that when an opening date is set we can immediately move forward.

"We are asking all parents of the students of this school district to please remain patient and bear with us during this emergency."

The Board also voted to pay teachers for the month of September.

Telegrams asking for immediate Federal Funds to repair Camille damage were dispatched to President Nixon, Vice-President Agnew and the entire Mississippi Congressional delegation.

Among other matters the Board will attempt to find out what funds for the school year might be obtained from the City and also look into the possibility of using the Valena C. Jones School.

Superintendent McCullough will meet with state officials in Jackson this week regarding Federal Funds.

came more optimistic — we may be down, but we're not beaten. It will take time, but fortunately time doesn't cost money and now more than ever before, we're learning to put to good use anything that is free.

SOCIAL NEWS WILL be omitted with the exception of a number of items which were written for last week's edition. Among larger affairs which were cancelled were the Nereids' Millionaires Night, all weekly benefits, and the long awaited golden anniversary party which was to have been hosted by Lottie and Garfield Ladner's children on Sunday, Aug. 31. Everyone was invited to the planned celebration at St. Clare's Parish Hall of which not even one piece of rubble remains. We do wish to extend congratulations to Mayor Ladner and his wife whose Central Avenue home provided sanctuary for 65 people and four dogs at the height of the blow.

RUMORS RUN RAMPANT and we do wish to clear up as many misunderstandings as possible. Mamie Gianelloni, we deeply regret to report, was one of Camille's victims; Max was injured, but he survived as did both Jeanine and Max, Jr. Jean Gianelloni is a patient at Keesler where she is reported to be recovering from punctures of both lungs and multiple fractures.

SERVICE MEN HAVE returned to what is left to their homes as they were granted leave to aid their families. SORRY THIS ISN'T much of a column and we simply have not the heart to describe SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY at the moment, for little of beauty is apparent at present, although each time one felled tree is removed or one more load of rubbish taken to Jackson Ridge, there is some improvement — and by this time next week we promise to find at least a few lovely signs to admire and describe.

HELD FROM LAST WEEK
DOT and AG, Bud Thomas
